Journal Article from an Online Database (EBSCO, JSTOR, etc.):

APA guidelines do not require including database information in citations because databases change over time. When referencing a print article obtained from an online database (such as a database in the library), provide appropriate print citation information. This allows people to retrieve the print version if they do not have access to the database you used.

Author, A. (Date of publication). Title of article. Title of periodical, volume number(issue number), page numbers.
